

i spy DELTA SIGMA PHI

i spy DELTA SIGMA PHI is a new feature where Delta Sigs, or Delta Sigma Phi's letters, are found in interesting and unique places. Have you taken the flag to the top of a mountain, worn your letters in a foreign country, or done something unique with fellow brothers? If so, send us the photo and we will include the best of them in this section each issue.

Photos submitted must be at least 300 DPI (taken on the highest resolution of the digital camera you utilize and NOT on a camera phone), and should be e-mailed to Hammond@deltasig.org with an explanation and a proposed caption. We look forward to sharing more photos like the ones on this page in future issues!

Photo provided by Bob Kennel

Delta Sigs from the Rho Chapter at NC State pose with Arnold Palmer, the golf course's designer, on the 15th hole of the new Lonnie Poole Golf Course on the NC State Centennial Campus. Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity named the 15th hole by having some 20 undergraduates and alumni donate money to become "Charter Partners."

Photo provided by Adam Littrell

Matt Elmore, Transylvania '09, and Thomas Baker, Transylvania '07, created a Sphinx with the Delta Sig letters during a May 2009 layover at Chicago's O'Hare Airport. The brothers were waiting to fly to Italy for a Choir trip with the University Choir.

Photo provided by Shy Scheihagen

David "Shy" Scheihagen, Texas '73, wears his letters in front of the Sphinx and Pyramids in Egypt during a trip he took recently.