

Script of Audio Recording for Deaf Brothers – Online Version of the Fall 2009 issue of *The Carnation

Hi, this is Bruce Hammond, the Director of Communications for Delta Sigma Phi and Editor of The Carnation magazine.

I'd like to thank you for taking a few minutes to read the Fall 2009 issue of The Carnation online. As you'll see, we've added a few new sections to this issue to enhance your reading experience. These include a By the Numbers section that talks about the most and least populous states, as well as our e-mail reach as an organization, a Fraternity Confidential section that gives some practical advice to our undergraduate readers and includes a Fact or Fiction quiz, and a new section we're calling I Spy Delta Sigma Phi, in which we show photos of the Fraternity's letters or brothers in unique and interesting places and situations.

We've also included some more bold visual elements to this issue in the form of larger photos and illustrations, which we hope you like and find valuable.

Add all of this to the regular wealth of interesting stories and alumni profiles aimed at educating, entertaining, and inspiring our brothers to be better men, and I'm extremely proud to present this issue to you and hope you like what you see.

As I did for the Spring 2009 issue, I'd like to take this opportunity to give you a quick tutorial to help you maneuver around using this online software.

If you look at the top left, you'll see the "Fullscreen" button. To have the best experience, click that button.

Once the page refreshes, you can then go to the right side of the screen to click on the arrow that appears to flip to the next page.

To zoom in, click on the page. To zoom out, click again. It's that simple.

Should you have any questions or comments, please feel free to call me at (317) 634-1899 x425, or e-mail me at Hammond@deltasig.org.

Thanks for reading.
